

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Methods for stimulating the immune system of an individual to produce and release antimalignin antibody are disclosed. The method comprises administering an amount of a composition containing malignin, recognin M, recognin L, or a peptide having the immunological specificity thereof. Also disclosed is a device for removing cancer cells from the body of a subject.